D: This is place is really nice. We should stay longer next time.

M: Yeah. The air is so fresh here! But who knows if it could stay the same …

M: Ugh, the air quality alert is still on. Seems like we are going right back to the center of smog. I don’t feel good about this… It will be really terrible if the highway is closed.

D: I know. In that case we will have to toil through country roads. But it’s quite windy today. Hopefully the smog is being blown away. And we have 2 days, enough to get back before Monday even driving in heavy smog.

D: OK, let’s go!

D: Why are we not moving? And that weird sound in the back…Ughhh!

M: Didn’t we fill up the tank this… OH MY…

D: What? What is the matter?
D: …

D: Ha! What did I say! The smog is being blown away~

M: And towards us… Ha! Surprise~

D: Well, we can’t control that, can we? But smog or no, let’s fix the car first. It’s making ridiculous noise now. Oh wait, I should turn on the light, otherwise…

M&D: AHHHHHHH!

M: We are…home? Huh…fast, huh? Thanks to smog~ I feel like a PM now. Awesoome!

D: Ju…just what on earth happened? It’s like everything was swirling. I couldn’t find you and I…I was trapped at some dark, burning swamp. It’s like…

M: Hell?

D: Haha, then I’m so glad that I’m back! Look!

D: Now, it's time for the heavens.