KewMann Became a Partner to Asian Banking School

Kuala Lumpur, 18 Jan 2019 – KewMann was chosen to partner with Asian Banking School to collaborate in growing and empowering talent to be the best in banking industry, in the areas of big data analytics, artificial intelligence, digital banking, Python etc.

ABS is the industry provider of premium professional certification and capability development programmes. Dedicated to developing talent, it specializes in professional banking education and serves as a channel for intellectual content and thought leadership for the banking sector. Created for the industry by the industry as an independent entity, ABS was built upon the decades-long experience of the Institute of Bankers Malaysia (IBBM) in delivering professional qualifications and training programmes. It was registered in 2012 and after its official launch by the then Bank Negara Malaysia Governor at the end of 2013, ABS started full operations in August 2015.

“As part of the talent nurturing culture in KewMann, we are honour to be able to contribute in talent growing within this region in big data analytics and AI for the financial services sector,” says KewMann Executive Director, Kew Yoke Ling.
