General English language (Common Section)

Can you identify the difference between who and whom, lay and lie, continuous and continual, etc? How would you differentiate Agnosticism from Antitheism? How many words that you can read in a minute? These are the kind of questions you need to answer to excel in this section.

English Language is one such section where you need to work on intuition and understanding. If you have enough time, there is one advice that can take you places – READ. Form a regular habit of reading newspapers and novels which would help you to both increase your vocabulary and understanding at the same time. Complete the books like “Word Power Made Easy” and “High School English - Wren and Martin”. Alongside, keep practicing Reading comprehension, Para Jumbles and Cloze Test paragraphs from a book and devote at least 1 hours daily to these activities. For Grammar, keep revising the rules and write them essentially from topics like Subject Verb Agreement, Tenses and Active & Passive Voice. Over the month, you would realize that constant reading practice has helped you to become better with English which has been considered as a nemesis for a long time by a lot of students. Study the following topics from paper-sets.

Topics from English grammars: Try to understand the basic concepts of English language that will increase your performance but that might be a time taking task.
