

I first got to know Mr Loh when he was running his courses on trading and REITS.

I found him to be very knowledgeable and very willing to share what he learnt over the years. I must say the thing that impressed me the most was he kept things real, and never over promised any results, nor did he try to sell the participants any software or fixed methodology.

Soon after, he obtained appropriate certifications, and with the trust that I built up with him, I asked him to be my financial advisor. He did a financial "check-up" for me. There were some areas where I was found to be lacking, for e.g. estate planning/leaving a proper will, inadequate insurance cover and having an imbalanced financial portfolio. He guided me through everything step by step in a very detailed manner. I must say that I am more than satisfied with all help he has given me so far and would definitely recommend him to anyone who wants to take control of their own finances.
