International Event on 'Create Tomorrow', the world's largest international student think tank

Dept. of International Relations, GTU has received a communication from Saxion University of Applied Sciences regarding an international event 'Create Tomorrow', the world's largest international student think tank – based in Enschede

The Details are as below:

Do you know any students who are looking for an exciting challenge and who would like to be inspired? If so, 'Create Tomorrow', the world's largest international student think tank – based in Enschede – may be just their thing!

Saxion is proud to be an official knowledge partner of Create Tomorrow and would like to inform her partners of this. We believe that it's a great opportunity for international students, as they can participate in this event online.

Create Tomorrow

Create Tomorrow is an international event, full of inspiration, technology and entertainment!

It will be streamed live on Create Tomorrow platform on the 28th of May. Students can, of course, choose to work with their team in person.

During this event, around 1000 students will explore and solve societal, business-related or technical issues. They will work on multidisciplinary challenges of the future in a huge online event. All students will present their pitch to the jury at the end of the day and stand to win a prize of €3,000.

Preparation event

Students can prepare for the event by following our informational programme on the 27th of May. During the preparation event, interesting keynotes, workshops and panel discussions will be organised to help students gain more understanding of one of the four themes connected to the think tank challenges. This year's themes are Energy Transition, Connected Healthcare, Future Industry and Smart Cities.
